

Long ago, Babylon was a mighty and ancient city. Now, though, it's just in ruins!

Babylon was a place where God's people lived in exile. Color the picture below.

Jeremiah's Letter to the Exiles

Jeremiah 29

hope

God's people, the Israelites, were living far away from home. The Babylonians captured them and forced them to live in a new city. God's prophet, Jeremiah, spoke God's words of hope to the people.

"I know you are sad that you are far from home, but live good lives where you are," he said. "Then one day, you will get to go home."

"Is that true?" a woman asked.

"Yes," Jeremiah said. "God has a good plan for you. If you look for God with all your heart, you will find God. God will gather up all the people and bring you all home."

"Wow," said a man with tears in his eyes. "Thank you for giving us hope, Jeremiah."

Jeremiah smiled. "It is God who gives hope. And God always keeps God's promises."

Nice Quote!

Yesterday is history, tomorrow is a mystery, today is a gift of God, which is why we call it the present.
